 Toad found a scrap.
It was a map.
He made a wild plan.
"I must see Bird at once!" he cried.

 Toad sprang up.
He packed his pillow
and a hot loaf.

He sprinted to Bird's home.
"Bird!" he yelled.
"Can you read this map?"

"We must row in that boat.
We must follow this map.
We will be rich!"

 "But, Toad," said Bird,
"I have jobs at home.
And snow may come soon."

 Toad did not like snow.
"That is smart," said Toad.
"We will go this spring."

Toad stuck the map
in his coat.

He went down the road
to his snug home.
